

I fully support the goals of RM-10765. This is an opportunity for the government to take full advantage of a voluntary effort to provide yet another method of passing information in time of emergency, without cost or risk. Amateur radio operators and shortwave listeners with modest equipment could pass critical information in emergencies. Establishing this service will allow those of us with equipment, to test and improve our capability that would be immediately available. There is no downside to this proposal.
